DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-42 allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: with respect claims 1, 16, 24, 27 and 41, of the instant invention is directed to method, cable modem termination system and apparatus for adjusting the power of a cable modem on a cable network. The relevant prior of records such as Quigley et al (2001/0055319) reference teaches averaging a plurality of channel power measurements to compensate for short-term fluctuations. Cherubini (6,735,221) teaches a communication network, which includes a Head end controller (HC), which sends data and medium-access control (MAC) information over a set of downstream channels to several stations and during a registration process of a station, HC detects a ranging request message from which the HC determines the round-trip delay and power correction value to be used by the cable modem for future upstream transmission. Leano (6,453,472), teaches method and apparatus for periodic ranging with a cable modem and determines whether an actual power level of the cable modem requires adjustment to a desired power level and indicates to the cable modem to adjust power level to an adjusted power level that differs from the actual power level of the cable modem. However, neither Quigley, Cherubini nor Leano and any of the cited references teach or suggest, alone or in combination the feature of the head-end, calculating a power adjustment using a plurality of recent power measurements of signals "taken over a plurality of ranging requests" from the cable modem, as recited in the instant invention with respect to independent claims 1, 16, 24 and 41.

With respect to independent claims 11, 32 and 42 neither Quigley, Cherubini nor Leano and any of the cited references teach or suggest, alone or in combination the feature a method of controlling upstream power of a cable modem using a ranging protocol with a first technique to adjust cable modem power that does not average recent power measurements, determining that signals contain more than a threshold of noise or fluctuation, and using a second technique that averages recent cable modem power measurements to calculate an adjustment.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Quigley et al (6,650,624) disclose cable modem apparatus and method.

Mahoney (6,360,369) discloses interference tolerant modem.

Zhang et al (6,519,449) disclose method and apparatus for signal power control in a wireless communication system.
